

Possessive Pronouns (Chapter 7)

This will look at possessive forms of personal pronouns in Urdu. Possessive forms are used to indicate who something or someone belongs to. E.g. my, your, our, their, his etc.

In English those words never change, but in Urdu they do. The good news is that the endings changes basically exactly like the endings of adjectives. This means the endings change according to the grammatical gender (female/male) and number (plural/singular) of the noun. Check out the chapter 4 lesson for more on that.
